AMSANT Pays Tribute to the Legacy of Dr Lowitja O'Donoghue, a Trailblazer for Indigenous Rights and Healthcare

The Aboriginal Medical Services Alliance Northern Territory (AMSANT) Board, its members and staff pay tribute to Dr Lowitja O'Donoghue. A pivotal figure in advancing the rights of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people, Dr O'Donoghue will be sadly missed but her legacy will remain.

Rob McPhee, Chair of the AMSANT Board, said, "Dr O'Donoghue will be remembered for her fearless leadership and tireless advocacy to improve the lives of our people. Her strength and resilience serve as an inspiration for those of us who will continue in the fight."

"She never shied away from a challenge or gave up on a fight. Her dedication was unwavering. She was truly one of Australia's most remarkable leaders," he said.
